(Menufactured by the Firm of Irresponsible, Chatter and Co.)

It is very easy to prophecy lafter things, have happened, and, from the tenor many articles in many papers, the Firm note that quite a number of people are now engaged upon that pleasing, if profitless, undertaking. If the readers of these notes care to think a moment, they will rememher that, so much as nearly four months Bgo, we took the trouble to point out cortain strategio positions on the Transvaal border, and made the assertion that the Bours would be first in possession of thom. This is exactly what has happened, and, not content with this, they have penetrated into Natul without anyhody, apparently being any the wisor-except, indeed, the ubiquitous Bennett-Burleigh, who, course, was discredited, it being the custom of the military authorities to practically callthe war correspondent a perverter of the truth. So far as the Firm can see, with the mergre information at their disposal, Great Britain is making the same mistakes "she has always made with regard to the Boors, by allowing them to get the pick of the bositions, thus prolonging the -this time, at all events, let us hope-inevitable overthrow of them. We may rest assured that the present war is no mere quarrel over the belli, declaring that a few murders would Franchise or the Ulthinders, but a most determined attempt on the part of our truculent South African subjects to assert the Boor supremacy over the whole of South Africa. Just as long back as we can romember, and that is some few years, we have known of this gigantic conspiracy, and its completed form is now being exposed coram populi.

Meanwhile, how are Mafeking, Kimberley, Duudee, Fourteen Streams, Barkly, Bloemhof and many another places on the Free State and Transvaul frontiers faring? We have a town and fort at Ulundi, only about sixty miles from Vryheid, where a large Boer force was known to be assomblod over a month ago. How has that fared i If a Boor Commando has marched in this direction, what is to pervent a sudden descent over the lower Tugela on Pietermaritzburg, or even Durban? We do not know; we cannot say. We are out of the world here, and must help ourselves.

Now when we are in the thick of a certainly forced-upon-us embroglio, it is very likely that somebody else will come forward to have a kick at us, indeed it is only what we may expect. There is our sullen and ancient foe in the north, who may chose to consider what she deems our present weaknem her fitting chance, and take the opportunity for a fling at Japan, morely as a means to an end, Peace Conference notwithstanding. We do not assert that this will be so, but the increased activity in the dockyards at home and the report that the ships on the Eastern stations are to be put auto their fighting coat of paint, sooms pregnosticate dire purposes afoot, in which case the fifty fiery spirits who wanted to go to South Africa from this Colony, will probably get their ambition satisfied nearer May the day be long ere such a thing should happen, but it is on the demoniacal ends, the question of the day is the Insanitary Properties Bill, which, between carselves, will hever be any use until either an earthquake shakes Hongkong down, or it is made an offence punishable with death for any member of the Government-official or otherwise-to have any interest in property here. Beyond any doubt, it is to the terrible and, if properly legislated for, avoidable overcrowding, that we owe our liability to the attack of and decimation from plague and other infectious diseases. Air! Air! Give us air should be the cry of the reference in Hongkong. Until we got this, we must bourhood of Ladysmith, as the Boors have rest content to get the plague, and debouched from the Passes in considerable perhaps, something worse. In the course of The accused persons, Pong Pun and Li allowing for the consorthip established over | Ki, are charged with the wilful murder of the news from Natal-the British chances one Pun Fuk, at Hongham in this colony, on 22nd August last. The case for the prosecution briefly amounts to this, viz: that the deceased man, walking with a friend, met the 1st prisoner (Pong Pun) in Bulkeley Street and asked him for some money. It does not appear for what the money was asked. The lat prisoner replied 'I have no money to give you, Let us fight and then I will give it you.' The deceased man thereupon pushed the 1st prisoner, not violently, with his hand, and asked why he refused to pay. The 1st prisoner replied by striking the deceased with his fist, whereupon the deceased ran away. The 1st prisoner then chased after him and when near Temple Street stabled the deceased with a chisel inflicting a terrible would on his thigh, from which would the deceased died, fifteen days afterwards, in in an anthulance the day he was wounded. As regards the 2nd Prisoner (Li Ki) the case against him is that he struck the deceased with a hammer on the right side of tum, and that the nation must close its his back almost at the same time as or imranks, shelving party controversy. I am not, at present, discussing the question how far the charge egainst each of the prisoners, respectively, is proved. At this print I will tell you what the law is, so far as it is applicable to this charge.

Murder is unlawful homicide without malice aforethought. Now as regards provocation, it is laid down correctly in Archbold's Criminal Pleading as follows : "No provocation whatever can tender homicide justifiable or even excusable; the least it can amount to is manshaughter. If a man At the Omnge River stations are the rekill another suddenly without any, or indeed without a considerable provocation, the law implies malice and the homicide is murder, but if the provocation were great and such as must have greatly! excited him, the killing is manslaughter only.

.H, for instance, a man had a chisel in his hand and while working at his beach receives a violent blow and turns round and stabs his assailant with the chied in the heat of tempor caused by the blow and the assailant unfortunately dies from that blow, this might not improperly be held to amount only to manslaughter; but if man, receiving a slight push, retaliates by striking his assailant violently with his fist tedly, if the man pursued his retreating assailant and stabbed him to death with a security given for the remainder. chisel while the assailant was unarmed and not threatening further violence, such an act would be murder. The revenge is not proportioned to the provocation, and the law would imply malice. Now, as regards the alleged act of the second prisoner, as the blow, alleged to have been inflicted by him with the hammer, in no way contributed to the death. the second prisoner would be entitled upon this indictment to be nequitted unless you are satisfied by the evidence that he was acting in concert with the first prisoner. If the attack was made by the two, together, with the intention of killing the deceased of of inflicting griovous bodily harm, and the 1st prisoner was found guilty of murder, the men who struck with the hammer would be guilty of murder also; because, if two attack a man in concert and, armed with deadly weapons, both strike him and one of them kills him, the other is responsible for the acts of the actual murderer. Such I take to be the law applicable to this case. It is simple and in accordance with common sonse. But the real difficulty in this case is to arrive at a correct conclusion as to the facts of the case. You are the judges of those facts and it is my duty to tell you with regard to each of the the pri- ly affected Sikkim, where the most disassoners, taking their cases separatively, that trous results are reported, many roads unless you are satisfied of their guilt he having been destroyed and also bridges yond reasonable doubt, it will be your duty which cost many thousands of rapees last to acquit them. ILLUSIONS OF IDLENESS.

It is a characteristic of all illusions that boredom of the occusions when we are supthey are most shrewdly perceived and most keenly criticised by observers whose general temperament, or mood at the moment, is library is produced. We read it, or we do least sympathetic with that of the victim. To every temperament and every mood belong its own illusions, seen through, pitied is only a mild form of industry or despised by critics who on their part in disguise. A little mental analysis discherish other illusions arising out of other states of mind. No men more opposite and anity of idleness by some device which impatient of each other are discoverable takes us as nearly as possible to the absothan the lazy man, and the industrious. 1 the laziness and the strenuousness are tem- days, and to emerge from them with some peramental the men are in lifelong opposi- measure of satisfaction, confirmed in the tion : if temporary, the moods happening libraion that we have been happy in idlenot to synchronise, then the result ness though all the time our ingenvity has is horedom in each case. Essentially been taxed to the atmost in devising means both men are alike, inasmuch as each for shortening the formid ble length of a is in quest of an ideal; and as that long summer's day .- Saturday Review. ideal is happiness they are both possessed by and equally the slaves of inevalicable and hopoless illusion. Their antagonism arises out of a difference us to means; but that happens to be precisely what separates all sorts of people into opposite camps, whether they are philosophers, politicians, ecologiastics, literary people, artists, philanthropists, county conneillors or members of School Boards. Perhaps we may compare them best to Epicurcans and Stoics always fancy the former- were the people of the ancient world. The latter would have their analogy with the modern * captains of industry and magnates commerce '-if you leave out some of the morality. The illusion that in idleness under some form or other happiness is to be. found is easier to be understood than most illusions. There is a charming and naive simplicity about it; and hence it is a popular creed. Sweet doing nothing is a delightful vision which makes us all converts to the gospel of illoness. We have constructed a heaven of future bliss on the simple basis of this illusion. An extensive hymnology exists whose inspiration is this captivating idea. If there were not some danger of wounding sensitive feelings we might make many quotalions from our devotional anthologies to show that the popular concaption of eternal happiness has much similitude to the reaful imaginings which float through the brain paterfamilias as he contemplates his annual visit to his favourite seaside summer resort. There will be sit by the margin of the quiet sen on the golden sands, and listen hali asleep after his midday dinner to the strains of the hand on the parade. It is the selfsame illusion which found its path through the sad heart of the poor slaving wienen all work as she composed her epitaph for her own and her friends' consolation. Don't weep for my now, don't weep for me never; I'm going to do nothing for ever and over.' The appeal is irresistible to the ingrained illusion of perfect lappiness in perfect idleness which is the ideal of pagan golden ages; Christian and Mohammedon paradises, and of social mil-lounium on earth when life is to be a succession of glorified Bank Holidays. Melibre, dens kobis hac otia fecil. What matters it that memory persists in reminding us that the periods of our lives when we have more nearly realised the ideal conditions were exactly those in which the illusion vanished? We cannot ignore the plain fact; but, as there is notling more difficult than the reproduction of past moods and feelings, it as though the story were told of another and not of ourselves. The illusion remains vivid and living while | Planos Exchanged, Tuned and Repaired the real fact of our experience shares the usual fate of all historical happenings in being unrealised in consciousness. If it were otherwise, and intend of forgetting our part bily for us ordinary men and women our illusions upon which our happiness depends lack of the poetic imagination in which we | 1.50 initations and anhalitates. are deficient. If we possessed it in larger measure our hours of idleness would coase exhausted worlds and then imagined new. well-Erchauge We should find Imppiness in the only way, guid to the measure in which it is allowed us, in activity and not in idleness. It is because when an ordinary person is not occupied with his customary pursuits, or in some form of game or diversion de signed to fill the vacuum of leisure hours, his mind becomes lethargin and incapable of independent activity, that we have the essential reason why all his supposed possibilities of happiness in blloness are but an illusion. The poet, or the child in whom the light of simagination has not yet sunk into the light of common day, is the only person to whom it is a possibility. theor men must be occupied in such a way that we can see they are doing something which we recognise as a definite mounts of passing the time. not then it is unfortunate for us if we must endure their company. Think of a rainy day in a provincial town at an hotel without a billiard table or a library of 'light literature ! We should not be happier, indeed, even with the pact if we were condemned to pass an afternoon with him under the trees what time he is engaged in the incomprehensible game of imagining his metainorphosis into a fawn How many of us could have endured Wordsworth's life at Rydal Mount without falling into melancholy moods by no means poetical? Under the illusion of the joys of idleness, which is never so strong as when we are anticipating release from the dreariness of towns in summer days, we imagine the highest beatitude in such a life and our thoughts dwell upon it as Wordsworth's did when he stood and mused before the plane-tree in Wood Street. And yet even amid these very scenes the remantic idleness of honeymoons has been known to lose its illusion. In truth we are not fitted for idleness, and woonly sigh for it, as we do for many other things, because the ironical gods have decreed that paradox shall be the law of our desires. We devise all man-

hard for us to endure. . We take a book and road assiduously some specimen of facile drivel which gives us a sensation vaguely suggestive of mental exercise, amongst scenes which should stimulate our minds, if they were capable of stimulus, to their highest energy and their most original thought. That they do not is a proof of our inability for that higher form of intellectual exercise which can dispense with all secondary appliances such as books whereby we enable ourselves to pass with some degree of comfort through this trying ordeal of idleness. It is as a protection against the posed to be enjoying unlimited leisure that so much of the trashy so-called literature of the railway bookstall and the circulating other equally triffing things, to encourage ourselves in the illusion that we are happy in idling. But in fact such idling covers that the reason of our satisfaction is that we are preserved from the jainful in lutely inane of industry. Thus we manage to pass our summer and other holi-

THE NATIVES AND THE BOERS. GRAVE POSSIBILITIES OF A TERRIBLE

Pietermaritzburg, Aug. 10 .- Any con siderations with respect to the possibilities of warfare with the Transvaal must be short-lighted and superficial which do not indicate the part that in all human probability would be played by the South Afri can native populations.

The native factor is in danger of being overlooked. Were hostilities to open tomorrow these would not, save by something short of a miracle, be confined to the Imperial troops on one side, and on the other to the Republican burghers. War with the Transval bristles with probabilities and with side issues. The Transvaal burghers, in the earlier stages of a conflict, could not as an army be regarded as a definite unit. off and for ever the lording over theni of Boer strongth would be affected by the Joubert and his men. > Dear Sir, -1 am & poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I should like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my trerible cough. Since I had the operation of "Tracheotorcy" (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him; thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Burtholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that it quite exhousted me. The mucous, which was very coplons and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.- I am, sir, yours truly, J. Hillia.

Peking University.

Since the close of the summer, says a Peking dispatch, three new branches of study have been added to the curriculum of the Peking University. These are military ancient and modern histories of all nations, including that of China also. In the last named two branches only men of high literary degrees will be admitted as students, the intention being to fit them specially for the peaks of prefects, subprefects, department and district magistrates, collectively known as 'local authorities.' The importance of even a partial knowledge of these two sciences by such officials is obvious enough as compared with their present states of ignorance throughout the empire. _N. C. Daily News.

FRAGBANT WATERS' MURMUR That I hear glowing accounts of the excellent shooting made by all branches of our Volunteer force at the Stonecutter's Camp during the ourrent week. That nothing more has been heard of the promised reorganisation of the Sanitary Board on a representative basis, which is believed to be the first step required to put senitary matters on a better looting. That His Excellency's proposal to make more airy cubicles may be a sort of alternative for the promise of a popular Sanitary Board.

That bigger cubicles would necessarily mean bigger rents, and $1.80 to $2 per month is clearly a sufficient tax on men earning $7 to $8 per month, with wives That increase of rents will mean increase of wages all round one of the things which proper representation would help to keep within reasonable bounds. That tramways to the suburbs, and houses built by Government, would holp the overcrowding and rackronting.

That the engrossing subject of interest has been the Transvani movements, and some disappointment has been fell at the contradictory and apparently unreliable messages received. That this may in a measure have been caused by confusion and wire outling.

That I do not take a doleful view of our position, as I fancied all along our War Office would be sure to permit the Boers to get one or two blows in first That the capture of the Hussars must stand as a perplexing problem until we hear particulars, as the thing looks incompre-

THE magnificent TWIN-SCREW STEAMSHIPS of this Line pass through the famous INLAND SEA OF JAPAN, and usually make the voyage YOKOHAMA TO VANCOUVER (B.C.), in 12 DAYS, saving THREE DAYS to a WEEK in the Trans-Pacific journey, and make connection at Vancouver with the PALATIAL TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAINS of the CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY, which leave daily, and cross the Continent FROM THE PACIFIC TO THE ATLANTIC WITHOUT CHANGE. Close connection is made at Montreal, Quebec, Halifax, New York and Boston with all Trans-Atlantic Lines, which passengers to Great Britain and, the Continent are given choice of. Passengers booked through to all principal points and AROUND THE WORLD, Return tickets to various points at reduced rates, Good for 4, 6, 9 and 12 months. SPECIAL RATES (first class only) granted to Missionaries, Members of the Naval, Military, Diplomatic and Civil Services, and to European Officials in the Service of China and Japan Governments.

The attractive features of this Company's route embrace its PALATIAL STEAMSHIPS, (second to none in the Workl), the LUXURIANCE OF ITS TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAINS (the Company having received the lighest award for same at recent Chicago Workl's Exhibition) and the diversity of MAGNIFICENT MOUNTAIN AND LAKE SCENERY through which the Railway passes. THE DINING CARS AND MOUNTAIN HOTELS of this route are owned and operated by the Company, and their appointments and Cuisine are unexcelled.
